DECATUR, ILLINOIS, FRIDAY, MARCH 19, 1880. VOL. VIII.

A JOKE ON A BISHOP.

A good story is told of a well known Episcopal Bishop. The Bishop is a very staid, glum sort of a man, and the last one in the world to enjoy a joke, especially one on himself. A waggish friend meeting him the other day in a car, astonished him by exclaiming, after a reference to his high-church principles "Why, Bishop, I hear that on Easter you appear in your pulpit with a crown and a palm."

"What!" exclaimed the Bishop in as tonishment, "Nonsense! You know

"Yes," replied the other, "with a rown on your head and a palm in your

"It is a libel! Who could have started such a story?" responded the distinguished prelate warmly. "But pshaw! it is idle to talk about it; it is o absurd."

The conversation was changed, but the Bishop did not forget his friend's words; they preyed on his mind and worried him; he was afraid the libelous atrocious report would get into papers, and then it would become a popularly accepted fact which there would be no denying.

He sought for his friend the next day at his office, for the purpose of learning the origin of the outrageous story; but the other, who is consider able of a wag, sorely vexed the spirit of the accomplished prelate before he would make any satisfactory explanation, and then, with a lugh and a twinkle of the eyes, he exclaimed:

"Why, Bishop, haven't you a crown on your head, and a palm in your hand? See?"

The Bishop was so much pleased with the explanation that he succeeded in raising a laugh; though the expression of fierce sclemnity that settled on his features, as he left shortly after, leads his friend to believe that he did not thoroughly enjoy the joke.

The fact shall be certified to the warden, who shall keep a record of the convict's earnings, and, after deducting twenty-five cents a day for his tood and clothing, shall pass the balance to his credit and apply it to the sup-port of his legal dependants

For a statesman 70 years old, Mr. Gladstone is certainly the most active man in the business of stumping in a political campaign. He has just started on another electioneering tour through Midiothian, after one of his characteristically confident and sturdy speeches. During his recent Scottish tour, Mr. Gladstone spoke at nearly every railway station, and at some points made speeches two and three hours long. It s mid that his vigor as a public speaker has not abated one into from his oraterical exploits in his early Tory days, and his maturer efforts after his tuition in free trade under Sir Robert Peel. The custom is to visit saloons, barber shops, and such other places of congregation and amusement as are open to them, and whereever they go they sing songs, pray and exhort, the women and men all uniting in the exercises. There are, perhaps, 150 children in the fifth ward who attend school at the first ward building, and going and coming they are compelled to cross one or more railway tracks, thus endangering their lives and limbs. terrific boiler explosion which took place between 7 and 8 o'clock this morning, northeast of Decatur, and two miles north of Oakley, on the Sangamon river, and that Jesse Fulk, a young married man, aged 30 years, had been killed outright; also, that the proprietors of the saw mill, Robert Reed, aged 35, and John Harrauff, aged 60, had received serious injuries. From Mr. W. T. Arriving there he found Fulk with a ghastly wound in his side, terribly scalded, and in a dying condition. Reed, who was the engineer, had one of his legs badly scalded, and Harrauff was mjured about the head by the falling sheeting which covered the engine and the machinery. A man named Sunnyfrank, and the parties above named were the only persons at the mill when the boiler bursted, and Sunnyfrank escaped without injury. Fulk is dead. He is a son of Henry Fulk who resides near Sangamon Station, and a brother of Amos Fulk, a teamster who lives in Decatur. Dr. Chenoweth, of Oreans, was summoned to the relief of the injured men. It is rare that a journalist is called upon to record such an instantaneous success as was made last night at the Asademy of Music by Mr. Macauley as Uncle Dan!, in Locke's "Messanger from Jaria 'Oction." The first art was coldly received, and elected but little attention, but before the curtain fell upon the last act Macauley had captured the house and received five recalls.

THE "ALCOGUTABLE QUITE-TOO-PERFECT? MAR.

I hate your perfect men. I never was so badly cheated in my life as I once was by one of your "perfect" men. He had got so far up in morals that he couldn't see the rules of common honesty. These men who go prowling around prayer-meetings telling how much like saints they are look out for them; keep your hands on your pocketbooks. The "higher-life" man of a GEFtain class who goes around with a Bible under his arm and who rushes into the counting-room of a merchant who is adding a column of figures, and exclaims "How's your soul?" is a nuisance. He makes religion a dose of pesacuanka. I tell you a roaring, roistering, bouncing sinner isn't so repulsive to me as one of that sort of bigher-life men.

be remembered as the time when all kinds of business and financial prosperty seemed to spring into new life. Merchants are finding plenty of ready customers for their wares, accounts meet with ready employment at fair wages, and the farmers are receiving advanced prices for their products, and it is acknowledged by all that in no part of our country are the evidences of prosperity and comfort so marked as along the entire line o the "Old Rolishe" Hansibal & St. Joseph Radroad.
